Taylor Creek Bridge near Cecilville to be repaired

CECILVILLE, CA. – The US Forest Service announced plans to repair the Salmon-Taylor Bridge over Taylor Creek, near the community of Cecilville. The bridge is on Taylor Creek Road, 0.1 mile from Cecilville Road (Forest Route 93), within the Klamath National Forest. Bridge repair will begin Monday, June 20, and is expected to last five days. No vehicle traffic over the bridge will be possible until the repair is complete. A pedestrian bridge will be available at the site. Taylor Creek Road provides access to the Poison Trailhead into the Trinity Alps Wilderness. Please contact Public Affairs Officer Ian Shackleford with any questions or concerns at 530-841-4485
